The goal of this webinar is to highlight trends in internationalization of research in Brazil, considering the current structure of Higher Education Institutions, policies and strategies. Concepts, potential benefits and barriers will be pointed out as well as some tools for measuring the levels of internationalization of research and recommended paths. Integration with the International Relations Office is still very incipient in Latin America but successful examples will be presented

This webinar will be presented in Portuguese on Friday December 8th, 2017 at 10h00 (Time of Brasília)
